The National Biobank Symposium represents the prime event of the year for the German biobanking community to gather and exchange ideas and experiences with industrial partners.

The 8th National Biobank Symposium on December 4 and 5, 2019 will bring together approximately 250 delegates, e.g. biobank operators and researchers, life scientists, clinicians, allied health professionals, bioinformatic scientists, epidemiologists, pathologists, geneticists. The symposium to be held in Berlin at Hotel MOA offers plenty of opportunity for networking and professional development. Proposing the following sponsorship packages we kindly invite you to participate and represent your company. On 3 December 2019, the day before the Symposium, the preliminary workshop "Genomic Medicine" will take place at Hotel MOA.
